We will enjoy timed admission to the exhibit “Maverick Kings: Three Visionary Pharaohs of Egypt’s Golden Age.” Ancient Egypt’s “golden age” was a time marked by great societal and artistic change, when artists, architects, and craftspeople, produced distinctive portraits, impressive buildings, and art. This exhibition focuses on three celebrated rulers of the 18th Dynasty: Hatshepsut, Amenhotep III, and Akhenaten. All members of the same family, each one understood the power of images and used them effectively to advance their agendas. You will see monuments to Hatshepsut, including the only royal sarcophagus from the 18th Dynasty outside of Egypt; large statues of deities in animal form, a style characteristic of Amenhotep III's reign, such as a nearly six-foot-tall statue of a falcon; and a sculpted portrait of Akhenaten's son, Tutankhamen. The second traveling exhibit is "Picasso, Miro, & Dali: Unbound." Both literally and in the creative minds that produced them, livres d'artiste (Artist's Book) had no precedent. At the turn of the 20th century, they revolutionized the book as an art form. Livres d'artiste attracted many famous practitioners—Pablo Picasso, Joan Miró, and Salvador Dalí among them—but they were also deeply collaborative ventures. This exhibition introduces the imaginative world of this art form through a group of extraordinary, rarely on view works by Spanish artists. Enjoy five hours to explore the permanent and traveling exhibits at the MFA ♿🕒 $110
